TOM McGRATH FAILS

Favorite Is Beaten in the Bay Shore Stakes.

PUBLIC LOSES AT GRAVESEND

Four Heavily-backed Favorites Fail to Run to Form and the Bookles Reap a Harvest-C. R. Ellison's Jacobite Captures Feature Race, While Security Wins the Place.

New York, Sept. 17 .- Four favorites were beaten over the Gravesend track to-day in the presence of the usual crowd of 15,000 persons. The Bay Shore stakes, at about six furlongs, was the feature, and it proved a pitfall for those who was fought three decades ago under the in its application to railroads, and the made H. R. Brandt's Tom McGrath an even money favorite, for Miller pulled him up at the start, losing so much ground that the stern chase was a hope-

C. R. Ellison's Jacobite, heavily backed at 3 to 1, was off running, on the contrary, and, after shaking off Lady Anne, 8 to 1, on the far turn, he had the favor-ite to contend with for a moment. But E. Dugan let Jacobite down then and he hurried home a winner by two lengths in 1:09 4-5. Security, 8 to 1, closed with resolute courage and nailed the place from the tired McGrath by a head.

Letus, 25 to 1, who was a half length back, was in a series of pockets from which Knapp did not extricate her unti it was too late.

Will Take on Jem Mace as a Spa ring Partner in England.

Having exhibited his prowess as a mo one end of this country to the other, and in practically every city between the two ceans, John L. Sullivan has decided to go abroad and fight the demon rum in the ountry where fighters train on the demon sguised as ale and beer. In other words, the weighty ex-champion is booked to spend next season in England.

Preparations for this trip have bee quietly progressing for the past two years. He has been craftly advertised in all the English towns and his name brought be-fore the public so thoroughly that there is quite a Sullivan boom in progress among the fellow-subjects of Charley Mitchell. Sullivan will remain with the show with which he is appearing at the Gayety in Washington this week until April 17, and three days later will sail in company with Manager Frank Hall and Lake Klands. Jake Kilrain. When he is safe across it is planned to get Jem Mace as a sparring London prize ring rules. ANTI-TRUST LAW IS UPHELD Believes Restraint May Be Taken from Carriers When Millenium Comes - Defends Competition as Life of Business.

Judson C. Clements, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, takes issue with Chairman Martin A. Knapp, partner, and have Mace and Sullivan who, in an interview in Chicago Monday, show the British how the famous battle declared that the Sherman anti-trust law, who, in an interview in Chicago Monday, interstate commerce act, was utterly inconsistent.

Chairman Knapp made it plain also Sullivan does in America, and they should that he believed that the time had come, in the management of railroads, when Kid Cutler, Sullivan's extra sparring co-operation should supplant competition. In commenting upon the observations of the head of the Federal commission, > "Without discussing the advisability of agreements, which are now supposed to riers cannot obey both the interstate the necessity they are alleged to be under, that to comply with the one they clared him sane. must violate the other. The anti-pooling There were two indictments, one for provision of the interstate commerce act assault, the other for abduction. Hess and principles of the anti-trust act. "If the public could at all times be assured of just, reasonable, and non-disriminatory rates, there would, of course be no necessity for either of these acts as applied to the carriers. Neither could there, in such a case, be objection to commilder term of 'co-operation.' Restraint Is Necessary.

"We might go one step further and say that if the actions of all men were squared by the golden rule, we would have no need of these or any other laws, or court houses or jails, but unfortunately, the community as represented by the government has always found restraint necessary in order to protect the individual in his rights.

"It might sound well in a Sunday schoo to say that co-operation is better than competition or business warfare. But the experience of the world does not prove that it is safe to construct laws upon the theory that no harm will come to the onsumers of any article because of the pacific co-operation between the producers of the same, whereby competition among hemselves is destroyed or limited.

"The people who manage railroads are not essentially different in their nature from other classes of people. They desire to make all they can out of the business, just as other people do in their lines of business. What they can get when competition is eliminated may be more than is just and reasonable.

Natural Laws Needed. ver be possible for any public tribunal | +h. fect, especially under a system of com- from the United States by way It is better that the public should be able to rely, as far as possible, upon natural laws of trade, unrestricted, for protection against extortion, rather than to be at all times dependent alone upon the action of any govermental tribunal, which, of necessity in every case, must take the time necessary to hear control versies before it can decide them. Prevention is better than cure." Does Not Approve Pooling. In discussing the proposal of President Roosevelt and Chairman Knapp that "pooling" be legalized, thus excepting railroads from the application of the antitrust act, Judge Landis said: "I do not believe in anything else under another name which is equivalent to

Judge Clement's attention was called to a report that the commission would not reduce basic rates, and that, as a rule, a conservative enforcement of the railroad rate act would prevail. "There is no authority for any state-ment as to what the commission will do respecting basic rates," he said. "In all controversies pending before it, the commission will proceed under the law, upon full hearing, to determine each case upon its merits and make an order accord-

GIVES LIFE FOR LUNCH.

Lineman Killed Climbing Pole to Get Basket of Food. Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Sept. 17 .- His efforts to save his lunch from the vandalism of joking fellow-workmen to-day, cost Alexander Dalyborax his life. He was a lineman, employed by the

New York + Central Railroad, and was working on the wires just south of the Morris Heights station, near Highbridge. When he arrived for work, Dalyborax arried his lunch box to the top of a pole and left it there, as the workmen had been in the habit of substituting stones and other things for the food they find in each other's lunches.

At noon Dalyborax climbed the pole to get his lunch. Suddenly his foot came get his lunch. Suddenly his foot came in contact with two live wires that carry the electricity that supplies the third rail. He fell forward, and for a time the body was suspended in midair, head downward, while his fellow-employes looked on, powerless to release him.
